

Justin Campbell

Justin Campbell is the founder and the owner of Firefly fabrication, Firefly is a trailer and food truck company. Since Justin is the boss he keeps everything safe, organized, and sanitary. Justin has many skills which makes him a great boss, there are a lot of skills he has but I will only list a few, he has leadership, problem solving, team building, time management, and communication. If I said I have seen him lack these skills I would be lying, Justin always keeps his workers in his best mind when he makes deals and Justin also keeps his customer's in best mind to. Justin was also in "Voyage LA", they asked Justin if he could walk them through his story. In response Justin said he grew up in Bradenton Florida, he went to culinary school and with that knowledge he went to work at high end restaurants for 5 years. He started his passion for trailers and food trucks when he once took an old food truck and gutted it and remodeled it in his garage, and then sold pickled sausage, after that he sold the food truck to come to California. When he came to California his life got an interesting turn when he was hired by Roaming Hunger, an experiential marketing company. Roaming Hunger brought him on as Chief Consultant to run a food truck used to market a line of frozen foods. NEXT PAGE →
